The Behring Sea Seizures Arouse Great Indignation

An Ottawa Paper Says Some Disagreeable Things

The Ute Indians Agree Off Their Reservation

Restless Red Men Making Trouble Among Ranchmen.

Canadian Disgusted.

OTTAWA, August 2.—The Citizen, the organ of the government here which hitherto has been silent on the Behring sea question, to-day says on the editorial column: If the present government of Washington fails to make some arrangement with regard to the seizure complications between the imperial government and the United States will be become inevitable. It has been set down to produce no desirable result. The truth is that statesmanship of the school of Webster and Clay do not now exist in bureaus in the southern portion of the continent. Pending politicians, seeking notoriety, and professors of brag and duplicity appear to have monopolized all the places of importance and are now intent upon forcing issues with this country which its people are rapidly learning to despise them, but not to fear them. The recent shameful act of piracy committed upon a Canadian vessel in Behring sea is absolutely unjustifiable and has only one redeeming feature, namely that it will bring the whole question under consideration and the Washington authorities will be obliged to apologize as well as recompense the owners of the vessels they interfere with. If this is not done what is left of the Yankee naval effects will probably disappear from more seas than Behring.

The Utes Off Their Reservation.

DENVER, August 2.—A prominent cattleman arrived here to-day from Gunnison bringing information that the Utes are again off their reservation and creating havoc in the western part of the state. They travel in small bands intimidating ranchers for the purpose of getting provisions and ammunition. They are also killing off all the game in that section, and during one week slaughtered 400 deers for their hides only. The settlers are becoming aroused and threaten to go upon a war of extermination unless something is promptly done to drive the red marauders upon their reservation and keep them there.

The Blues Win.

LEADVILLE, August 2.—Leadville won again to-day from Colorado Springs. The batteries were Fitzgerald and Lytle for the Springs, and Pears and Lehman for Leadville.

General Order No 18.

2. Brigadier General Reardon will place the chiefs of his staff on duty, issuing all requisitions for supplies to be made to this office.

By command of the governor and commander in chief.

[Signed] BENJ F. KELLY,
Adjutant General.

The Alton's Intended Purchase.

CHICAGO, August 2.—A morning paper states that negotiations are said to be pending for the purchase by the Chicago and Alton of the Kansas City branch of the Union Pacific from Kansas City to Denver. This would give the Alton through connection from Kansas City to Cheyenne, and the Union Pacific by their arrangement, would get the business of the Alton. Should the sale be made to the Alton it will be a severe blow to the Inter state Commerce Railway association and will hasten its demise. The president and vice president are out of the city. The vice president's private secretary says there is no truth in the report, but it is given out as coming from General Manager Chappelle that negotiations to that effect are in progress.

OMAHA, Neb., August 2.—A prominent official of the Union Pacific railroad said to day in regard to the reported purchase by the Chicago and Alton road of the Kansas Pacific branch of the Union Pacific. No one here has a shadow of information to confirm any such report. [illegible] dated company and such sale is practically impossible.

BOSTON, August 2.—The Transcript says that the report of the negotiation pending for the purchase of the Kansas Pacific branch of the Union Pacific road by the Alton is officially denied in the city.

Would be Suicide Recovering.

CHICAGO, August 2.—Herman Carlin the would be suicide who jumped into the lake two days ago, is gradually on the way to recovery. He is getting better, the physicians say. One of the bullets has been extracted and his condition has greatly improved. He was perfectly conscious all day to-day and conversed with members of his family and physicians about every day affairs but would not say anything about his attempt at suicide.

Charged with Forgery.

LIMA, August 2.—The county Republican paper will to-morrow print the charge of forging and publishing documents for the county [illegible] against Thomas Bonfoey. Bonfoey was straight Democrat. He [illegible] the documents in question [illegible] created from parties in London.

Premature Blast.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., August 2.—At the Ferland coal works near Clarksburg to-day a premature blast killed Edgar Matheny and S. F. Matheny and severely injured Thomas Dodd and William Matheny. Several other miners were slightly hurt.

We publish elsewhere a letter from the Sisters of Loretto, which should create a profound impression. The persecution that they have been subjected to is not only a great outrage, but it is a positive disgrace to this city. It would be well for the mayor to have a special watchman there for a few nights and to offer a fair reward for the apprehension of the vandals. The sisters are certainly entitled to and should receive protection even if it requires some extra expense. The damages incurred so far ought to be paid for. This would relieve us of at least part of the disgrace. We shall be glad to receive any [illegible] for this purpose and turn it over to the sisters.

One of the most serious features of the large adjustments in the distinguished consideration which the Denver News, the leading democratic organ of Colorado, has given to the republican officials who were charged with wrongdoing. In its absolute fairness, it declined to take the opportunity of making any party capital out of it. It has even gone so far as to say that the department of the state [illegible] only involved has been completely vindicated, before [illegible] charges had been formulated. It read before the testimony of the prosecution was in. Certainly no political opponent could ask for fairer treatment than the News has given the republican officials of the state.

Postmaster Paul, of Milwaukee has not been [illegible] the civil service laws in the administration of his office and unfortunately for him the civil service commission has found it out. An investigation of the Milwaukee office was followed by a rather severe report from the commission. It has been proclaimed frequently that there is no truth in the charges made against Paul and that he is assailed solely because of his political faith. Judge Edgerton, formerly a member of the civil service commission has just made a ringing [illegible] in with this style of the case and assuring the public that Paul has carefully complied with the laws at all times. Democrats [illegible] so think that this letter from Edgerton settles the fact that Paul has been wrongly accused. But with the average citizen [illegible] with the fact that Postmaster at Cleveland received Judge Edgerton from the civil service commission but [illegible] the democratic officials the laws he was appointed to enforce and still retain [illegible] with the [illegible] laws [illegible] to be somewhat [illegible] be served very high. A man who [illegible] so knowingly a breach of whether democrat or [illegible] in this claim that Paul is a democrat the fact [illegible] to have been overlooked that in the report from the commission, Commissioner Thompson has joined. It is not probable that Thompson, a life-long democrat would join in any scheme to remove a republican democrat from office simply because he is a democrat. Any [illegible] scheme on the part of the republican members would have been met by a vigorous minority report from Thompson.

The statement of Secretary Rice published yesterday will be accepted by the general public as a fair answer to Governor Cooper's letter, and it will tend to clear away some of the scandal from his office. There are a few things, however, which are worthy of more attention. Accordi[illegible] to this statement there are still thirteen [illegible] and desks not including member's desks, stored with Graham & Weber, of the property used by the Sixth [illegible] Assembly. Why could not these tables and desks have been used by the Seventh, thus saving the cost of buying others for it and also the cost of storage on these articles?

Under the seventh question, the secretary gives the advertisement which he published calling for bids. The furniture was described as follows: "Nearly new furniture, carpets, rugs, matting chairs, tables, etc., of the various kinds and qualities; to itemize kind, quality and price." The advertisement may be strictly according to law, but it is a form which should never be used. It was hardly worth while asking for any bids whatever, in this way. If the call for bids had stated that so many member's desks, chairs, roller top desks, etc., costing to fifteen or twenty thousand dollars would be purchased, there would have been plenty of bidders. Even then, however, there could not have been a fair comparison of bids because different parties would have bid on different things unless a list were furnished, and practically the secretary of state did let the contract to whom he would. The same style of advertisement called for a bid on stationery, &c.—it was known that the legislature would use several thousand dollars' worth, but it was not generally known that the state would need more than a thousand dollars worth of furniture in the coming year. If this bid is according to law, the law ought to be changed.

The letter shifts a great deal of responsibility from where it was supposed to be, and puts on the committees on the part of the two houses and on the state printer of printing most of the responsibility. Perhaps this responsibility justly belongs there, only if it does, the state should know it. Somebody is responsible, and somebody should suffer. This may excuse Secretary Rice from any intentional wrongdoing, but it does not seem to us that his responsibility can be shifted in this way. He is made by law purchasing agent of the state, and he ought not to allow others to usurp his duties nor should the fact that the state measurer had approved of any printing bill make it conclusive to the secretary of state that it was correct and should be paid. It is the business of the secretary of state to know that it is correct. The state measurer may assist him but the state measurer is not the responsible party. The secretary of state is at the head of the department which is supposed to do all the purchasing and is to certify to the correctness of receipt of goods and to the prices and he should be held accountable for every act done in this department. If the law does not put this duty upon him it is a poor law and ought to be amended.

There was a great deal of talk about loaning articles. One desk was loaned to the Hon S. H. Hastings, one of the members of the house, on the ground that Mr. Hastings' office did not expire until January, 1891. If we are not mistaken, Mr. Hastings resigned as a member of the house before it adjourned and therefore when this desk was loaned to him, he was no longer an officer of the state and it ought not to have been done.

There are some points which we regret questions from Governor Cooper did not call out testimony on. First, why so much money was considered necessary for state printing. The members of the legislature that made the appropriation of necessity knew little about it and say they depended largely on the opinion of the secretary of state. It would have been interesting to know on what the estimates were founded to call for so much money for printing.

Another matter was the amount paid for rent for the assembly. The amount is very large and much above what it was reported others would have furnished the same accommodations for. As no bids were requested, it would have been well for the secretary of state to have stated why so large a rent should have been paid under contract for three terms of the legislature. Of course its nearness to the other state offices made it a particularly desirable position, but not so desirable as to pay four or five times what it has been said others offered to furnish quarters for.

It cannot be said that Secretary Rice has been absolutely vindicated, because this is only the beginning of the investigation and many charges have not been answered, but it can be said that the statement so far as he has made it, carries a presumption of innocence so far as intention goes. It is not unlikely that Mr. Rice, himself, may find it due to himself and to the state to make a further statement. But the letter must also create a feeling of confidence regarding the management of all the business affairs of our state. By this letter it will appear that there can be a large [illegible] of money wasted without anybody in particular being responsible. This [illegible] ought not to continue to exist and laws should be passed which will make [illegible] one responsible and prevent the extraordinary extravagance which the expenditures show.

Fire and Water.

To the Editor of the Gazette.

While talking to one of our ex-aldermen in reference to our city water question a few days ago, his remarks reminded me of the class of people who lived in the days of Noah, who were eating and drinking until the flood came. The statement referred to above is as follows: "When the leaves begin to turn the Lord never fails to send rain in time to save them." That good and kind Lord has not given us his assurance that we will get rain, but has promised to send fire, and justly, for our wickedness in not attending to having our reservoirs well supplied with water in readiness for that fire. This city may be punished by having itself burn up. PROSPER.

Constitutional Conventions.

HELENA, Mont., August 2.—The convention to-day passed a bill prohibiting legislators and members of the judiciary and boards of equalization from accepting passes from railroads, under penalty of forfeiture of office and emoluments. In the afternoon the legislative department bill was taken up and numerous amendments considered. The proposition for the apportionment of the state into senatorial districts, one for each county, brought out a heated party debate. The convention finally adjourned without taking a vote.

SIOUX FALLS, S. DAK., Aug. 2.—The time of the convention to-day was occupied in debate as to its power for fixing the term of the first elected set of state officers before the constitution goes into effect. As the schedule is now arranged it will necessitate a general election every year, and this the convention wants to avoid. No decision was reached.

BISMARCK, N. Dakota, August 2.—The principal fight in the convention was over the proposition to give every organized county representatives in the legislature. This was opposed by many as giving the sparsely settled western portion of the territory more power in the legislature than was intended. The western men were defeated and the convention decided upon having the members of the house of representatives elected at large from senatorial districts.

Died of starvation.

SALT LAKE, UTAH, Aug. 2.—Two children belonging to the wife of one of the locked out miners died here to-day. Physicians who attended them pronounced it a clear case of starvation. The mother had but little food in the house and was unable to provide sufficient nourishment for them.

SKETCHES OF SOME OLD PEOPLE IN AMERICA AND ELSEWHERE

Is It a Fact as Certain Statistics Are Said to Show That the Americans Are of Greater Average Age Than the People of Other Nations?

WILLIAM ROACH — MATILDA FOSS
SAMUEL BROWN — POLLY VENNUM.

A little investigation will show quite a number of people now dwelling in the United States who have lived a long time, and some have gone far beyond their best health birthday.

A specimen of extreme age is living at Washington Mills on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, not far from Utica, New York. His name is Ephraim [illegible]. He is said to be 140 years old. The proof of his age is largely in the word of his sons, who are old men, for one of his children went west some years ago with the family in which the record of his birth was kept, and has probably died away, as letters sent to him have been returned.

Mr. Foster says that he was born in Warren, Herkimer county, N. Y., Jan 30, 1756. His father was a farmer, who came from the old country. Mr Foster has been a shoemaker all his life, and says that he worked at his trade till a year ago, when his eyes gave out. At 31 he married a girl of 14 and had 12 children born to him, all of whom are living, so far as he knows, except two girls, and two were killed in the civil war. His wife died in 1865, and the old man has not seen or heard of a brother or sister in fifty years. [illegible] who died about twenty-five years ago. He joined Gen Herkimer's army as a waiter and choreboy when he was thirteen and was with him at the time of the battle of Oriskany, the only battle he ever went away for. During the war he was put in the [illegible] He was in the battle of Sackets Harbor in 1812. An interesting item of [illegible] is when he gets out of a [illegible].

[illegible] there is Aunt Elsie Williams, a colored woman living in Maryland, who is supposed to have reached the age of 115. She was born in Williamsport, Md. At the time of Washington's death she was in jail in Washington with other slaves awaiting to be sent south. Out of Washington she went to Augusta, Ga., where she was bought by a slave trader, who took her to his plantation on the Tombigbee, in Alabama. She was sold again at Memphis, Tenn. She traveled north near the close of the war with the Eighth Missouri [illegible] and has ever since made her home in St. Louis city and county.

Pickaway county, O., has a woman 112 years old. She was born on the 4th of July, being the first anniversary of American independence. Her name is Margaret Arnold. Her father, Mr. Robert Ki[illegible], had twelve children, four of whom are living—three daughters and one son. Margaret was married to Mr. Patrick Arnold [illegible] years ago and she has raised 10 children. She removed to Pickaway county and followed the occupation of a farmer. She remained there after this husband's death for twenty years, and subsequently returned to Ohio, where she has been living with her son. No pay has been offered her, as she has never been sick a day in her life. After a lifetime of tobacco for [illegible] years she has at last laid the pipe [illegible] and has given it up.
